BENEFICIAL BAT HOUSE

Walnut Stain 15.5"W 23"H 8"D	1	56200
--	----------	-------

A single little brown bat can eat over 1,200 garden pests, flies, & mosquitos per hour!
Bats are nocturnal mammals with a large appetite for the bugs that destroy our gardens and bother us in the evenings. Those bugs include mosquitos, moths, gnats, & wasps. Having bats around allows you to rely less on chemical sprays and pesticides. In addition to pest control, bats are also important pollinators and a wide array of plants actually rely on bat populations. A bat house is a great way to embrace this wonderfully beneficial species which is rarely seen by humans but live right in our backyards!

Beneficial for Home & Organic Gardening!
Your Pollinators and Beneficial Bugs need a home in your garden! Our BB Houses are a fun and practical addition to your home garden. They are perfect for kids to learn about organic farming, predatory insects, and pollinators. The houses harbor beneficial bugs that keep insects such as aphids off our plants. Pollinators use the houses to develop from egg to adulthood, where they can facilitate the reproduction of flowering plants! Help host these essential species right in your garden!

What's all the Buzz about?

Bug houses host pollinators and beneficial bugs!

Set your house up in a sheltered area of your garden or away from the prevailing wind.

Solitary bees love sun to help them get out and about on a cold day. Your house will become fully occupied quicker if it is located close to an existing insect hotspot: a hedge, bank of nectar-rich flowers or a pond, for example.

Ask how to get a fence display for your store!

Solitary Bees are typically stingless and excellent pollinators. Since females can't depend on a hive for nesting, they must build one from hollow logs, rarely found in our gardens. Solitary bee populations are in serious decline and desperately need our help!

Ladybugs are cute, happy and friendly beetles that spend the winter sleeping in woodchips. By the spring and summer, they are ready to enter the garden and eat aphids!

Lacewings are welcomed in the garden because of their voracious appetite for plant-eating pests. They nest between pieces of wood and devour aphids, leafhoppers, whiteflies, mites and caterpillars.

Butterflies are important pollinators that love the color red! They slip through the slits to hibernate from winter until spring, when they are warm enough to fly again.

Earwigs are beneficial protectors of fruit trees and vegetable gardens. They are principally nocturnal animals with a taste for aphids and plant lice.

Kokedama literally translates to “moss ball” in Japanese! It is a tradition in Japanese gardening that wraps a plant’s root ball in moss for it to be hung or placed on a dish. Kokedamas look stunning with orchids, bromeliads, succulents, Asian plants, herbs and vines. Place them indoors or outdoors, on kitchen counters or bathroom counters, on coffee tables or dining room tables! Our Kokedama Kit includes everything but the plant, so all you have to do is choose!

Biophilic design relies on the art of using natural preserved plants, mosses, lichens, and wood branches to bring elements of nature indoors. This art form is increasingly popular in architecture & interior design, where its primary goal is to create a serene green space to live and work.

Moss Walls not only look very impressive indoors, but they also provide natural sound absorption, which makes them a great option for loud environments like restaurants, offices, or living rooms.

Creating a Moss Wall can be as simple or as intricate as you make it! Regardless, starting with our Green Wall Moss Frame is the best place to begin.

SuperMoss Instant Green Moss Roll is made from the same high quality green Mountain Moss as the rest of our creative products. The Moss Ribbon is a versatile product that can be used in arts & crafts projects, as flowerpot soil toppers, basket liners, and even as patio placemats.

What the Growers Use!

SuperMoss Orchid Bark is natural Douglas-fir tree bark. Its pH makes it an ideal potting medium for orchids. It allows for great oxygenation and drainage of water so that the orchid's roots have constant access to both water and oxygen. This mimics an orchid's natural environment and helps them grow to their full potential. Available in attractive retail packaging or in bulk quantities.
